Short Biography

Fatih Tura (25, Utrecht, The Netherlands) is an Amsterdam based film editor.

In 2016, he graduated from The Netherlands Film Academy as a film editor with the student-oscar winning film "When Grey is a Colour" and with the documentary "The Origin of Trouble", which has won many awards all over the world (including the Cilect prize for best student documentary worldwide). In his first year as a graduated film editor, Fatih worked on a couple of shorts such as "Lejla" (Stijn Bouma) which premiered at the Cannes Film Festival in the Cinéfondation competition and two films which premiered at the Berlinale Film Festival in the Generation Competition. In 2018 "Kiem Holijanda" (Sarah Veltmeyer) which won the Crystal Bear for best short film and in 2019 Yulia & Juliet (Zara Dwinger). Fatih worked also on different documentaries such as the online series "Echoes of IS" and "Famke Louise" and a couple of short documentaries such as My Happy Complicated Family, KENDIS, Young Hunters and Father Figure. Fatih is currently working on different commercials, TV-series, documentaries and fiction films.
